Briefe von Jeanette Wohl an Ludwig Börne

Nachl.L.Börne BIX, Nr. 888, Bl. 444-446

Handwritten text in German, likely a letter or official document, written in a cursive script. The text is dense and covers the entire page, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily corrected. The handwriting is characteristic of the 18th or 19th century. The text is written on aged, slightly yellowed paper. The ink is dark, and the script is highly stylized and interconnected. The overall appearance is that of a historical document, possibly a legal or administrative record. The text is written in a single column, filling most of the page's width. There are some faint markings and corrections throughout, suggesting a process of drafting or editing. The paper shows signs of wear, including some staining and discoloration, particularly towards the bottom and right edges. The handwriting is consistent throughout, indicating it was written by a single person. The text is difficult to read due to the cursive style and the density of the script. The overall tone of the document appears to be formal and serious.

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in cursive script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]
