A NOTE of WELCOME!

Dear Students, Members and Friends,

The year 2019 marked another important milestone in the history of the ILF. It has been 5 years since the establishment of the second LL.M. program at the ILF – the Master of Laws in International Banking, Securities and Finance (LL.M. International Finance) program. We celebrated its success in a big way by having a conference on “Current Legal and Business Issues Concerning Asian-German Finance Relations” on 15 May 2019 and inviting representatives from all our cooperation universities in Asia to join us for the celebration which 13 professors took up. Besides attending the conference, they also went on a field trip to Berlin the following three days together with our LL.M. Finance and LL.M. International Finance students. Our strong bonds with many Asian universities have definitely contributed to the success of the LL.M. International Finance program which we have achieved in a short period of 5 years. This year, we signed two more cooperation agreements with the Civil, Commercial and Economic Law School of China University of Political Science and Law, Beijing, in December 2018 and Shandong University School of Law, Qingdao, in May 2019.

We are especially proud of the fact that we were ranked together with top law schools in the world in the LL.M. Guide 2019 Top 10 Lists for Global LL.M. Programs in Banking/Finance/Securities Law. This confirmation of our success encourages us to work even harder in making sure that both our LL.M. programs retain, and where possible, surpasses its current achievements in academic excellence.

The academic year 2018/19 saw the largest group of students ever to study at the ILF – 69 students participated in both LL.M. programs (47 students in the Master of Laws in Finance (LL.M. Finance) program and 22 students in the Master of Laws in International Banking, Securities and Finance (LL.M. International Finance) program for Asian students). The high caliber, continuous academic curiosity and cultural diversity of our students provided an enthusiastic learning audience for our lecturers who comprised both well-known academics from universities as well as experts in the legal, banking, financial, insurance and regulatory sectors. Dr. Philipp Paech from the London School of Economics was once again invited to be the ILF Visiting Professor in the summer semester to teach the course “International Financial Law”.

As in the case every year, all our students in the LL.M. Finance program received internship placements with our sponsors and supporters through the organizational work done by ILF staff. Even though it is only a voluntary element of the LL.M. International Finance program, our LL.M. International Finance students also received, through the help of the ILF, internship placements at the end of their one-year program. We thank all our sponsors and supporters for their strong cooperation with us. The successful completion of the ILF Summer School on “Law of Banking and Capital Markets” was also due to the support of our long-term sponsors and supporters.

Numerous conferences, special seminars and discussions forums continued to be held at the ILF on current hot topics such as “EDIS, NPLs, Sovereign Debt and Safe Assets”, “Brexit – Implications for the Financial Service Industry”, “Banking Union”, “Remuneration Structure in Banks – Current Practices” and “Law and Reality in Digital China” which were always well attended by members of the public as well as our students and alumni.

Our achievements to date provides us with even more motivation to push harder forward to be a center of excellence for teaching, learning and research in the interdisciplinary field of law and finance.

All our students who have undergraduate degrees in law, business or economics from top universities in their home countries have been specially selected to join our program by the Admissions Committee from a large pool of applicants.

In order to prepare our students for the start of classes which officially began on Monday, 15 October 2018, they attended the introductory courses “Basics of EU Law” and “Basics of Financial Mathematics” from 5 to 12 October 2018.

Our students also got to know each other better throughout the entire year by attending many interesting law, business and finance courses as well as guest lectures, seminars and conferences together. GAINING PRACTICAL EXPERIENCE as INTERNS!

Completing an internship is a mandatory requirement for our students attending the LL.M. Finance program. Based on the support of our sponsors and supporters, namely international law firms, commercial banks, central banks, consulting firms, institutions or regulatory authorities, our students have the exceptional opportunity to complete internships during the break between the winter and summer semesters of their one-year LL.M. Finance program.

The following sets out where some of our LL.M. Finance students have completed their internships in 2019:

- During the course of his internship with Hengeler Mueller, a student worked for a number of lawyers on a variety of matters involving international business law. His assignments were focused in the areas of finance and M&A and they included preparing draft outlines for panels moderated and workshops organized by members of the M&A team, reviewing industrial property related agreements, assisting in preparing a due diligence report regarding the refinancing of a real estate portfolio of a global real estate investment firm, and participating in the testing of legal tech software by the firm's legal tech team.

- During her time working in the Directorate General Legal Services of Deutsche Bundesbank, a student's main activities comprised assisting in updating a commentary on the Statute of the ESCB and the ECB, researching the latest developments on the U.K.'s exit from the European Union, reviewing a draft cooperation agreement between central banks concerning technical aid programs, and preparing a legal opinion on the modified framework for the functioning of the European Systemic Risk Board.

- While interning at the International Capital Markets practice of Allen & Overy, a student assisted in the drafting of a bond prospectus, preparation and negotiations of documents in relation to the issuance of bonds and updating of bond issue programs, as well as preparation of global certificates in connection with several bond issuances. In addition, he was involved in researching and preparing a memorandum on insolvency issues relating to an OTC Derivative transaction.

- A student was working in the Tax Advisory Department of PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) during her internship. Her work included researching on the areas of Sustainability Finance and Tax, in particular, EU regulations and their application in Germany as well as trends and market demands. She also conducted research and analysis on international balancing of accounts of financial investments and the tax consequences of financial derivatives on parties at the stock exchange.

- Another student completed her internship in the Banking Practice Group of Hogan Lovells. She assisted the lawyers with their transactions such as preparing a first draft of standard factoring documents, a draft of a global assignment agreement as part of a finance transaction, a draft of shareholders' resolutions and powers of attorneys, as well as an advice to a client on guarantee and a private placement memorandum.

Visit to the MONEY MUSEUM of the German Central Bank on 15 March 2019

The final visit of the training program was to the Money Museum of the German Central Bank.

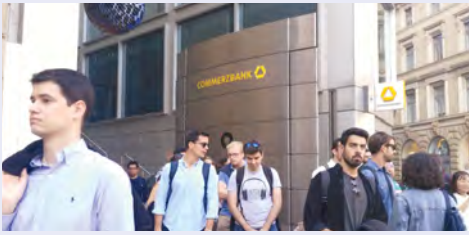

The presentation was delivered by Ms. Sarah Bartlick, International Central Bank Dialogue, on the core business areas of the Bundesbank and its relation to the European Central Bank. A unique aspect of Frankfurt is the fact that it is the only city in the world that has two central banks, highlighting the importance of this financial center. The students were able to participate in a discussion regarding specific case studies of the Eurozone and how all 19 member states cooperate within this system. The students toured the Money Museum which provided a historical overview of money and transactions globally.

ILF Students' Class Trip to HEIDELBERG on 1 December 2018

Students from the LL.M. Finance and LL.M. International Finance programs accompanied by ILF staff went on a field trip to Heidelberg on 1 December 2018.

They traveled to the historic university town to explore the quaint yet lively tourist hub. Upon arrival, the students split into two smaller groups and commenced a two-hour guided walking tour to the main sights. At the heart of the town, a short mountain cable car ride away, was the Heidelberg Castle where the students learned about the long-standing history of the castle and surrounding area.

The students then proceeded to “Kulturbrauerei” for a traditional German lunch and afterwards had a free afternoon. Most chose to further explore the town and enjoy the bustling Christmas markets full of festive cheer before they departed back to Frankfurt later in the evening.

Visit to Group Compliance – Global Financial Crime, AML/Sanctions Department of COMMERZBANK on 6 May 2019

Our students had the special opportunity to attend an interesting visit of the Group Compliance – Global Financial Crime, AML/Sanctions Department of Commerzbank on the afternoon of 6 May 2019. During the visit, our students were first welcomed by Dr. Jan-Gerrit Iken, Global Head of Financial Crime, AML & Sanctions, Commerzbank AG, who was then followed by a number of presentations given by the representatives working in the various units in the department and these included Global Standards & Steering Sanctions, Global Standards AML, Global Risk Models, Enhanced Due Diligence, Global AML Monitoring & Investigations and Global Financial Crime Unit.

Excursion to BERLIN from 16 to 18 May 2019

ILF students, staff and 12 professors from Asian universities who attended the 5th anniversary celebrations of the LL.M. International Finance program participated in a field trip to the city of Berlin from 16 to 18 May 2019.

On Thursday, 16 May 2019, the first point on the agenda was a 2-hour guided walking city tour of Berlin for both the group of students and the visiting Asian professors. At the end of the tour, both groups met up for the welcome dinner in Restaurant Nolle with special guests Dr. Lixin Liu and Ms. Yuchen Cao from the Education Department of the Embassy of the People's Republic of China in Berlin and Dr. Osman Sacarcelik, Attorney-at-Law, Deloitte Legal.

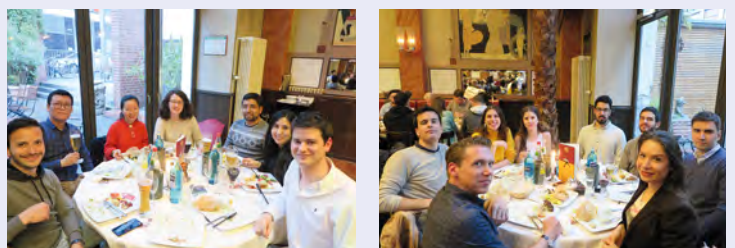

On Friday, we visited Deloitte at the Deloitte Greenhouse where Dr. Klaus Pilz, Attorney-at-Law, Deloitte Legal, warmly welcomed our group. Both students and delegates participated in a number of interesting talks and discussions with representatives of the different departments of Deloitte.

After having lunch which was kindly hosted by Deloitte, our group went on to the German Parliamentary Office Building to meet Ms. Bettina Stark-Watzinger, Chairwoman of the Financial Committee of the German Parliament and member of the German Parliament. Ms. Stark-Watzinger shared details about her work in the German Parliament and, in particular, the Financial Committee. After the meeting, our students had some free time to discover more of the city on their own whereas the delegation of professors and the ILF staff had a farewell dinner together at the Restaurant Refugium located at Gendarmenmarkt.

Later in the evening, the entire group met up once again to visit the Reichstag Building where they received a very informative guided tour of the history, architecture and purpose of the building.

On Saturday, the group had free time for the rest of the trip where they could enjoy the sights and sounds of Berlin on their own. Yet another highlight of the excursion was the football match between Hertha BSC and Bayer Leverkusen (1:5) at the Olympic Stadium of Berlin which many of our students and Asian professors were able to watch. This was possible, thanks to Bayer Leverkusen which had generously sponsored the tickets to the ILF.

attended numerous extra-curricular and social events which were specially organized for them.

GRADU

GRADUATION

Another academic year of teaching came to a close at the ILF in July 2019. We were delighted to celebrate our students' achievements when graduates, guests, academic and administrative staff of the ILF came together to mark this occasion on 20 July 2019. The graduating class of 68 students, 46 from the LL.M. Finance program and 22 from the LL.M. International Finance program were welcomed at the House of Finance for their final event of the year.

Prof. Dr. Andreas Cahn, ILF Executive Director, opened the graduation ceremony by welcoming 250 guests from around the world to Frankfurt. He noted during his speech that this is an important time for choice, to reflect on the choices that had led the students to the ILF and the choices which all our graduates would now have to make in life and in their careers. He reflected on the last 10 months of study and praised the group for coming together, once strangers, now friends and peers in academia and hopefully much more. Finally, he thanked the lecturers, sponsors and ILF administration for their continuous commitment and support of the ILF.

Prof. Dr. Albrecht Cordes, Dean of the Law Faculty, Goethe University Frankfurt am Main, was honored to be at the graduation ceremony and to see the ILF Class of 2019 graduating from a wonderful and thriving program which has made huge developments since its establishment in 2002. He was highly impressed with the variety and internationality of the graduates and the fact that they come from 23 different countries. He warmly congratulated our graduates for their achievements and wished them the best for the future as our valued and ever growing alumni.

The LL.M. Finance Class President, Mr. Michalis Makris from Greece, and the LL.M. International Finance Class President, Mr. Ishan Zahoor from India, related their experiences at the classes and activities held at the ILF during their year of study. Both Presidents reminisced on times that were enjoyable, such as class trips and late nights in Frankfurt, however both also remembered the challenging moments as those are the experiences that allow our students to grow, push out of their comfort zones and take on new obstacles. Special thanks were extended to Dr. Rolf Friedewald, ILF Managing Director, as the graduating class recognized his dedication to each student as they attend the ILF.

The Class Vice-Presidents, Ms. Carla Winslow-Kruger from USA/Germany and Mr. Xiran Li from China, honored four lecturers who were nominated by each group of students, two from the winter semester and two from the summer semester with the Lecturer of the Year 2019 Award. They expressed their gratitude on behalf of their classmates, thanking each lecturer for their dedication over the term. Mr. Frank Herring who was present to receive his award thanked the classes for nominating him and in his speech, emphasized the importance of showing their strengths of character when making decisions in their future careers. Prof. Dr. Cahn thanked the LL.M. International Finance class for his award, noting the achievements of this program, which celebrates its fifth year in 2019.

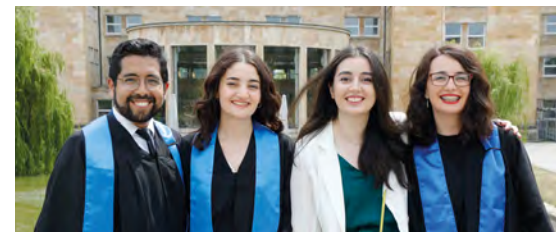

Finally, each student of the Class of 2019 received his/her certificate and was personally congratulated by Prof. Dr. Cordes during the commemorative certificates award ceremony.

At the end of the official ceremony, all guests were invited to the dinner and dance held at the Festsaal of the Casino Building on Campus Westend. At the dinner, our guests enjoyed a 15-minute video made by Dr. Friedewald recapping the special events of the Class of 2019 from field trips to Berlin, Heidelberg and Düsseldorf to conferences hosted with ILF partners as well as alumni events.

Celebrations continued late into the evening and we are very happy that our students had a wonderful day with friends and families present.

Congratulations to the Class of 2019!

5th DELOITTE BREXIT LECTURE held on 29 March 2019

Deloitte.

“Brexit – Implications for the Financial Services Industry”

On Friday, 29 March 2019, the ILF hosted the 5th Brexit Event in partnership with Deloitte. This was held on the initial date of the UK’s exit from the European Union, however there have been and are still delays as the British Parliament fails to agree on a withdrawal agreement and possible exit strategies.

The event started in the afternoon with 70 participants joining a workshop held by Christian Klöppel, Director for Service Design & Innovation of Deloitte, where the participants formed work groups and covered a Brexit related topic. Each group brainstormed the Chances & Challenges of Brexit in relation to the U.K., the EU, the FSI Inbound or Outbound and the global FSI perspective. Each group was able to discuss their topic, concerns and predictions of what may happen next.

Later that afternoon, Dr. Rolf Friedewald, ILF Managing Director, welcomed the participants followed by Dr. Mathias Hanten of Deloitte Legal introducing the first speaker Dr. Jens Zimmermann, Member of the German Bundestag, Deputy Chairman, German-British Parliamentary Group, Germany. His “High Noon – How will the political Brexit journey continue?” discussion on personal experiences from both inside the U.K.’s and Germany’s parliament were extremely insightful, highlighting concerns in Germany from a broad range of his constituents.

The successive speakers were introduced by Deloitte’s Director of Research Dr. Alexander Börsch.

Dr. Alexander Thiele, Ph.D., University of Göttingen, Germany, delivered the second talk on “Brexit: Political and Legal Implications for the European Union”. This presentation was filled with humor and hope of a resolution in the near future, avoiding a long delay to Brexit and the possibilities of revoking Article 50 entirely.

Adrian Crampton from Deloitte discussed “Brexit from the Perspective of German Business” and gave a statistical overview of Brexit implications for German business from industries including automotive, trade and consumer goods. A surprising figure (correct in Feb 2019) stated 31% of German businesses have not yet implemented a Brexit plan but planned to do so and 13% had not prepared a plan at all. As of the lecture date, a No Deal Brexit is looking most likely.

The final talk was from Dr. Jasmin Koelbl-Vogt, Board Member Citigroup, Germany, on “Brexit-related topics from a Bank’s Perspective”. She had a pragmatic approach to Brexit which can only be described as “fail to prepare, prepare to fail”. From the Leave victory, a hard Brexit strategy was envisioned by Citigroup and Dr. Koelbl-Vogt delivered her expertise in their planning across the U.K. and Europe for such an eventuality.

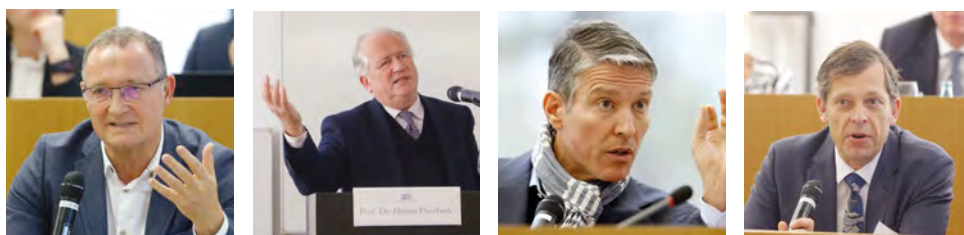

The final segment of the day was a panel of the speakers discussing their topics followed by questions from the audience regarding personal queries on Brexit, its implications on local businesses and what may be going on in the U.K. parliament as we move closer towards the new Brexit date.

The evening ended with finger-food and drinks where the participants of the afternoon were able to socialize in the special setting of the Gästehaus of Goethe University.

Ms. Elisabeth Noble, Senior Policy Expert, European Banking Authority, spoke about the different regulatory issues which are connected to crypto-assets and what solutions legal frameworks in different countries are currently offering or will need to define in the near future in Europe.

Finally, Dr. Christian Schmies, Partner, Hengeler Mueller, described the situation for digital assets and tokens issued under the current regulatory regime according to German and European laws.

After the presentations, the panel discussion was chaired by Prof. Dr. Cahn, with the speakers answering questions from the audience as well.

“Rehumanizing the Corporation in the Financial Industry” by Prof. Jaap Winter on 30 October 2018

On 30 October 2018, Prof. Jaap Winter delivered a guest lecture on the topic “Rehumanizing the Corporation in the Financial Industry” to students and guests of the ILF. Prof. Winter is Professor of International Company Law at the University of Amsterdam, Netherlands, Professor of Corporate Law, Governance and Behavior at Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, and Visiting Professor of Corporate Governance at INSEAD, Fontainebleau, France. He advises boards of executive and non-executive directors on governance and leadership.

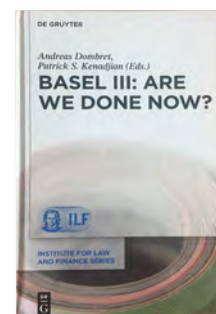

In his inspiring as well as eye-opening lecture, he spoke about the influence of generally accepted economic theories followed by managers such as the principal agency theory or the commitment to focus on shareholders’ value on business, law and their respective social impact. He exemplified the different conflicts of interest in societies regarding the remuneration of managers, corporate governance codes and the regulation frameworks for the financial industry. Generally, these systems follow the rationale of increasing efficiencies. However, the rules and regulations applied can demotivate humans and act as a disincentive for socially responsible behavior. Big data and artificial intelligence pose the next risk for the integrity of human beings in the near future.

Prof. Winter’s closing remarks referred to the key findings of philosophers on human behavior and motivated the audience to think critically and responsibly about the results of their behavior as lawyers, managers and leaders.
