FREEDOM OF CHOICE

There are no obligatory modules in the M.Sc. in International Management. You do not have to complete a specific set of courses in order to graduate. Instead, you are free to choose from the elective modules and seminars offered. This offers you the possibility to concentrate on one or two areas and to specialize in them, or you can choose modules from all the different areas, taking a more generalist approach.

You can choose from the following areas

▶ Accounting

Modules in Accounting focus on internal and external accounting standards as well as taxation and corporate governance. As a lot of these courses deal with German rules and regulations, a rather large number of courses are held in German.

▶ Finance

The size of the Finance Department mirrors Frankfurt's importance as a financial center in Europe. Modules in this area focus on portfolio and risk management, asset pricing, mergers and acquisitions, corporate and household finance as well as regulation.

▶ Information Management

Modules in Information Management – often also called Business Informatics – offers students the chance to deal with current examples of IT implementations in business environments. Typical topics are practical applications in the areas of finance, online commerce, cloud computing or social networks.

▶ Managerial Economics

The modules offered in Managerial Economics focus on managerial decision-making and strategic Management. Applications of micro-economic theories are as essential as empirical economic research methods.

▶ Marketing Analytics

Having one of the largest marketing departments in Germany, we can offer a broad variety of modules dealing with quantitative analyses of customer satisfaction, brand management and digital marketing.

Students in the International Management program also have to take one Ethics module. These typically focus topics like corporate social responsibility, behavioral economics and moral decision making.

BACHELOR MEETS BUSINESS

What field should I focus my studies on? Which industries should I consider for traineeship? What are my career perspectives once I have graduated as a Bachelor? Should I decide to enrol in a Master's program afterwards?

Answers to these and other questions are provided in the „Bachelor meets Business“ series, which is organized every winter semester. In these events, students have the opportunity to make contacts with renowned companies. The events start with a short presentation by the company invited, in which its representatives introduce themselves with a description of their own career. Afterwards, the students can ask questions with regard to possible internships and post-studies perspectives. Presentations are mostly held in German language.

Due to the Covid-19 pandemic and the fact that attendance at the Goethe-University Frankfurt is currently limited to a minimum, the faculty has decided to organize “Bachelor meets Business” in WS 21/22 also digitally.

You can already reserve the following dates for the WS 2021/22.

Date	Corporation
November 02, 2021	Gruppe Deutsche Börse
November 11, 2021	BDO AG Wirtschaftsprüfungsgesellschaft
November 16, 2021	KfW Bankengruppe
November 30, 2021	Deutsche Bank Management Consulting
December 07, 2021	Deloitte

The events take place every Tuesday from 6.15pm to approx. 8.00pm via “zoom” or other systems in German. Participation is free of charge. Registration starts from October 2021:
