The project

Following on the ADEA/APNET study on inter-African Book trade that was commissioned in 1999, ADEA tasked APNET to facilitate the production of national book industry updates in each country. The updates are aimed at encouraging commercial development of inter-African book trade and to make available to the public, total systematic and current situations on the book trade in each country.

Terms of reference for study on the Inter-African Book Trade

Following on from the publication that ADEA and APNET commissioned in 1999 on the Inter-African Book trade, it was recommended that APNET should facilitate the sharing of information between National Publishers' Associations (NPAs) in order to promote cross border trade in books. Building on the research that was undertaken into the different procedures that need to be followed when exporting books to a particular country, it is evident that such information needs to be codified by NPAs for Publishers and Booksellers in other countries. It is also apparent that such information needs to be up-dated by NPAs on an annual basis, and returned to APNET for wider dissemination to its members.

The purpose of this study was to design a short form for National Publishers' Associations to fill out on the current procedures, legal and fiscal regulations, with which all publishers and booksellers need to be familiar when embarking on the export of their books to another African country.

The study therefore required:-

1. To design a template that summarizes all the information on book trade procedures, legal requirements, foreign exchange regulations, fiscal tariffs (e.g. customs duties, sales tax, and withholding tax), Florence agreement compliance, copyright, etc. that Publishers and Booksellers need to know in order to market their books in a particular country.
2. To liaise with the APNET's Trade Officer on the development of this form.
3. To pilot this form (facilitated by APNET secretariat where necessary) with at least three NPAs.
4. To complete the design of the form and its piloting within one month of the signature of contract with APNET.

SUMMARY OF STUDY – COUNTRY RESPONSES

Countries that did not respond to the questionnaire were 14 and are:

Algeria, Angola, Benin, Cabo Verde, Central African Republic, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Gambia, Guinea Bissau, Liberia, Libya, Madagascar, Mauritania, and Sudan.

Countries that promised to respond but failed were 4 and are:

Botswana, Gabon, Swaziland and Tchad

Countries that sent in responses were 29 and are:

Burkina Faso, Cameroon, Congo Brazzaville, Cote d' Ivoire, Democratic Republic of Congo, Egypt, Ghana, Guinea, Kenya, Lesotho, Malawi, Mali, Mauritius, Morocco, Mozambique, Namibia, Niger, Nigeria, Rwanda, Senegal, Sierra Leone, South Africa, Tanzania, Togo, Tunisia, Uganda, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

Total APNET membership is 46

Questions considered difficult by respondents were 10 to 13 since some members were not sure of what sizes to refer to. Some respondents included the approximate figures as a guide to what the situation is in their countries. Others were encouraged to decide basing on the size of the publishing industry in their country because the sizes of the publishing industries vary from country to country. The situations are so diverse that what South Africa may call a small publisher might be the largest publisher in (for example) Togo in terms of number of people employed, number of titles per year or annual turnover. The guide to the user is going to be the population figures which will give an indication to the expected size of the industry. Another guide is the number of school going students at different levels. It is hoped that the users will still find the figures useful for purposes of entering and investing in the different markets.

Surprisingly, in situations where we received two responses from one country they do not correspond to each other which goes to confirm that the information is either not readily available or it was difficult to access. It was also difficult for many NPAs to find the exact answers concerning numbers of book industry players in their countries and accurate information on the issue of taxes and customs duties.

Other respondents could not find the information requested and therefore left these questions unanswered. It is hoped they will complete the missing information in future, when the study gets another update.
